June 2019

What went behind.....

'I want to have a baby' was a touching presentation on infertility, seasoned with dollops of humour by author and journalist Sudha Umashanker. A trained story teller, Sudha used her skills to sensitize the audience to the pain and anxiety a couple go through during the course of treatment for infertility.

Having researched and published several articles on the topic, Sudha Umashanker warns that the major factor is the rise in average age of marriage and child birth among women. Radiation from gadgets, food habits, life style, pollution and stress too have an adverse affect on our reproductive health. Dr Deepa Mukundhan shared her experiences in treating patients with assisted reproductive technology.

What Lies Ahead.....

How often have you been impressed by the inimitable style of some writers who have influenced generations? Here is an opportunity to hone your skills and learn to write better, be it an article or even your Facebook post .

Suma Varughese has had an illustrious career as a writer and editor. The hallmarks of her writing are clarity, simplicity and brevity. She has trained numerous writers who have gone on to achieve stellar careers. A fantastic teacher, Suma will make you fall in love with words and writing. The first day is an introductory session for The Aura members, while the second day programme is a paid workshop open to all, over lunch.
