What went Behind...

The India Art Festival was a well-spent weekend for art lovers which was met with mixed reviews. Some of the audience loved it, some of them shook their head from right to left, while some of the others were very critical evaluating every scene of the 'Nadagam' and every song and dance sequence of 'Tamizh'. It was a very new venture that 'The Aura' had embarked on. Y. Gee. Mahendraa's portrayal as a character actor and his talent as a comedian was presented in a very distinctive manner in this play. The team performed to entertain and the interesting and perfect play of lights made the drama a success. 'Tamizh', on the contrary, did border on the documentary style of presentation. Though the narrations were lengthy, they were packed with information and the elements of dance, sound and lights were well co-ordinated. It was a totally new concept, an experiment not only from Madhuvanthi's side, but also from the organisers'. That art can spread a message with a contemporary theme and can also impart knowledge to the young and old was proved without a dispute.

What Lies Ahead

Who is opposed to 'win only win' situations in life! Courage to take on impossible tasks, confidence that we can handle any problem that arises and the certainty that we will emerge the winner is a dream that all of us cherish close to our hearts. We are the architects of our destiny and how we plan and perform will decide our fortune- the winner or the loser that will surface. Think of a dynamic future and work in a dynamic present for it is in the future that most of our lives are going to be lived.

“When things go wrong as they sometimes will, When the road you are trudging seems all uphill, when funds are low and the debts are high, and you want to smile, but you have to sigh.....stick to the fight when you are hardest hit...Its when things seem worst that you must not quit.” Yes, this time we are going to have a workshop that will help us to make winning a habit, to help face the tests of life, to make and not to break and to turn every failed situation to our advantage. Make use of this golden opportunity to make a positive difference in your lives and in those of your beloved ones!

Attention
