Greetings from The Aura,

American poet James Oppenheim once said, “The foolish man seeks happiness in the distance, the wise grows it under his feet”.

This April we had two wonderful speakers who believe that true happiness comes from within and nobody can take it away from you.

Sujith Kumar founder of Maatram foundation stressed on the importance of working on our relationships in and outside our homes. To Sujith, the path to happiness is through gratitude, love and forgiveness. As Preethi Srinivasan said, Sujith was “humour and wisdom in one package”.

Preethi Srinivasan, a cheerful enthusiastic person and the founder of Soulfree, described her life as an incredible learning adventure. She strongly believes that a change in perspective helps one to be happy.

Identify your talents, build on your strengths, face your fears and nothing can stop you on the path to happiness.

Ranga Raatinam

Numerous stories we have read, but the ones we heard from our grandparents are much closer to our hearts. Rediscover the art of story telling as we laugh, sing and dance together this summer.

Kathai Kalatta promotes and nurtures culture and heritage through stories. The organization will inaugurate the first ever Virtual International Folklore Festival, Ranga Raatinam at The Aura. The renowned, award winning performers hail from 5 South Eastern countries - South Korea, Thailand, Philippines, Indonesia and New Zealand. Each performer will display a glimpse of their culture through dance, stories, music and puppets.

We bring to you a 90 minute performance with co founder and talented story teller Jeeva Raghunath in command. Jeeva has pioneered the story telling movement in Tamil Nadu and has represented India in various international festivals across the globe. We at The Aura, remember the day she left us spell bound with her story telling skills years ago. Looking forward to a morning of Fun and entertainment.
